Comments
Amazing work. He is brilliant.
William is an excellent TA. I learned many new things about some of the material in his tutorials that I hadn't fully understood for years (for example, the derivation of the lottery simplex). He is effective at communicating concepts and ideas, even when they are difficult or more abstract.
A dedicated and very helpful TA
Great intuition and cohesive proof provided! William always has clear logic and can respond to questions as soon as possible!
William is great, always helpul and clear!. Great TA.
William is very helpful delivering the sessions. On top of assignment questions, he offer valuable insights on concepts to help us understand concepts better, which is very rare for TA sessions.
When using the IPad, sometimes the instructor do zoom in to write, but it makes impossible to see the full screen.
Very helpful and supportive. I don’t think I would have done remotely okay in this course if it was not the support that i got from the TA
He teaches really well. The tutorial is interesting and helpful. However, he sometimes goes off topic.
Very good disposition to answer doubts, specially in office hours, in which he spent even more time that the one that was assigned for that purpose.

Please comment on any aspects, positive or negative, of the format and content of the course as they may have affected the teaching assistant's performance.

Comments
Try to coordinate with the department to ensure the tutorial does not end up back to back with Econ 626's tutorial if they are in rooms more than 10 minutes away from each other (after accounting for classes running late) again. In the best case, it would be great to have all three course tutorials in the same building.
tutorials were very helpful. He went over some important questions which have common misunderstanding or useful aspects to clarify the concepts we discussed in class. I hope the time was longer

Explanatory Note

Percent Favourable Rating

This is the percentage of respondents who rated the instructor a 4 or 5 (Agree or Strongly Agree).

Interpolated Median

The data collected for Student Experience of Instruction (SEI) are ordinal in nature, with a natural order (from 1 to 5). While the mean may be used as a measure of central tendency for such data, it is not an appropriate or accurate representation of SEI data (cf. Stark & Freishtat, 2014). The usual measure of central tendency for ordinal data is the median. As a result, we have been reporting the mean and the median for the last several years. After considerable thought and data modeling, we now believe that the interpolated median is the best representation of the data, since it takes the frequency distribution into account.

Consider the following example from 2015W, the two course sections have identical mean (3.8). However, the instructor in section 2 received 77% favourable (4-5) ratings, compared to 53% for the instructor in section 1. The Interpolated median values of (3.7 and 4.2), much better reflects the distribution of the scores above and below their respective median. Furthermore, the interpolated median is better correlated with percent favourable rating; such that an interpolated median of 3.5 on a Likert scale of 1 to 5, corresponds to 50% favourable rating.

Frequency Distribution

Response for University Module Item	Section 1	Section 2
5 = Strongly agree	5	5
4 = Agree	3	5
3 = Neither agree nor disagree	6	0
2 = Disagree	1	2
1 = Strongly disagree	0	1
Mean	3.8	3.8
Median	4.0	4.0

Interpolated Median	3.7	4.2
Percent favourable rating	53%	77%

Dispersion Index

The dispersion index is a measure of variability suitable for ordinal data (Rampichini, Grilli & Petrucci 2004). This dispersion index has values between zero and 1. A zero dispersion index indicates that all respondents in the section rated their experience of instruction the same. An index value of 1.0 is obtained when the respondents are split evenly between the two extreme values (Strongly Disagree & Strongly Agree), a very rare occurrence. In SEI data at UBC, the index rarely exceeds 0.85, and mostly for surveys not meeting the minimum recommended response rate.
